THE OLD BARRACKS AT TRENTON, ERECTED 1758-59.
THE BUILDING ON THE RIGHT WAS THE OFFICERS' QUARTERS.

rences gave the signal for hostilities, although the war, which lasted until 1763, was not formally proclaimed until 1756.

From the commencement of hostilities in 1754, the Province of New Jersey was in a constant state of apprehension of an attack by hostile Indians, and many accounts of their scalping and murdering within its borders were reported to the Governor.

During 1755, numerous petitions were filed by the inhabitants, asking that barracks be erected for the purpose of housing the troops that had been sent to the Province by the English. These troops were quartered with various residents of the State at two shillings and five pence per week for each soldier, and the mode of lodging had become most annoying to the people because the habits and morals of the soldiers were not of the best.

The near approach at times of the stealthy foe, the letters received in Trenton giving notice of the murder of men in Sussex County by the savages, made the demand more insistent that arrangements should be made for future protection. In the winter of 1755, a petition was filed with the General Assembly, signed by residents of various sections that felt the need of protection, and in quick order followed thirty-eight additional petitions.

In February, 1756, Governor Belcher was petitioned by the most prominent men of the State, but it was not until the 15th of April, 1758, that a law was passed by the Council and General Assembly to provide for the erection of five barracks within the State, to be located at Perth Amboy, Elizabethtown, New Brunswick, Trenton, and Burlington. These buildings were shortly erected by the Colonists, and it was planned that each should house between 300 and 500 troops.

Trenton, being the most centrally located town of the State, and one of the most important posts, had an officers' quarters added to its barracks during 1759. Much to the regret of all patriotic citizens, all of these buildings have been demolished except at Trenton, where the Barracks is being restored to its original condition by the State of New Jersey.

The building is of stone, two stories in height, with basement, located at the corner of South Willow and Front Streets and within 300 feet of the Capitol Building. The site was well chosen near the banks of the Delaware, and was within 100 feet of Petty's Run, which was filled with pure, sparkling water. The main building is 180 feet in length and  $18\frac{1}{2}$  feet in width, with two wings, each 56 feet in length, at either end thereof and projecting at right angles from the front of the Barracks. The officers' quarters were built at the end of the northeasterly wing.

The first authentic record of the occupation of the Barracks shows that a regiment of Highlanders, on the second of October, 1759, were quartered there, and their peculiar dress created much interest among the people of the town. It was occupied almost continually by troops until 1765, at which time the attention of the General Assembly was called to the fact that the perishable articles therein should be sold and the building kept in repair and rented. Within a year after the Assembly took action, it was necessary to again refit the building and furnish it with bedding, blankets, and other necessities.

During the Revolutionary War the Barracks was occupied at various times by companies of British and Hessian troops and recruits for the American army. For two weeks prior to the battle of Trenton it was occupied by English Dragoons and German Yeagers, together with a number of Tory refugees from Monmouth and Burlington Counties. It continued until the end of the war as a place for quartering the soldiers of either army who happened to be in possession of the surrounding territory.

In 1787 the building was sold and divided into apartments, and in 1793, Front Street, to a width of 35 feet, was extended from Willow Street to the State Capitol, passing directly through the Barracks, a portion of which was razed for its accommodation, parallel and quite close to the north wing.

TABLETS ERECTED BY THE SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS IN THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY.

HE purposes for which the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey exists are stated in the Preamble of its Constitution. As one means of perpetuating the memory of prominent events of Colonial history the Society has initiated the erection of tablets commemorative of persons, sites, and events.

Between the years 1910 and 1916 four tablets were erected by the Society: those marking the site of the first court house of Somerset County, at Six Mile Run, and the site of the second court house of Somerset County, at Hillsborough; that commemorative of the settlement of Elizabeth Towne; and that in memory of Hendrick Fisher, President of the first Board of Trustees of Queen's College, now Rutgers College. The two Somerset County tablets and the Hendrick Fisher tablet are the work of Albert Weinert; the Elizabeth Towne tablet is the work of John Williams, Inc. Photographs of these tablets and historical sketches are included in this volume. Of the first and second court houses in Somerset County, the sketches have been prepared by Charles Wolcott Parker, Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey, formerly Governor of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey. Those which deal with the Elizabeth Towne tablet and the tablet to the memory of Hendrick Fisher are the contributions of Arthur Adams, Registrar of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey.

TABLET MARKING THE SITE OF THE FIRST COURT HOUSE OF SOMER- SET COUNTY, NEW JERSEY.

HIS tablet is at Franklin Park, a small village six miles southwest of New Brunswick, on the main road to Princeton, now called the Lincoln Highway, which is one of the principal automobile routes to Philadelphia. The place was formerly called Six Mile Run, and the road, a very old one, was in 1710 known as "the great road that leads from Inian's Ferry (now New Brunswick) to Cranberry Brook." It is laid down on the map of New Jersey published in London in 1777, and the "Low Dutch Church" of Six Mile Run is also indicated thereon. The tablet is on the west side of the main road about three hundred yards north of the present church building; and was unveiled on the 200th anniversary of the church, November 15, 1910, as the joint gift of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey and the Somerset County Historical Society.

Nothing of special historic importance attaches to the site: the principal points of interest are its antiquity and the locality of the county seat at the time in view of subsequent growth of the county. Somerset was first set off as a new county, somewhat vaguely, in 1688; but had no county seat and depended on Middlesex for its courts. In 1710 its boundaries were better defined, and ever since that year the boundary line between Middlesex and Somerset has run along the centre of the road already mentioned. No doubt the placing of the first court house in 1717 at the boundary line and practically in a corner of the county, depended on the proximity of the church, the gathering of most of the population in this neighborhood, and the selection of the site by popular vote.

The building was burned, with its records, in 1737, by which time the public needs called for another county seat, which was then moved to Millstone and later to Somerville, while Franklin Park remains as it began two centuries ago, a quiet country village clustered around its church, and astride of the "old road" (as it was called in 1714) "leading from Inian's Ferry by Jedediah Higgins' house toward the Falls of the Delaware."

TABLET MARKING THE SITE OF THE SECOND COURT HOUSE OF SOM- ERSET COUNTY, NEW JERSEY.

HIS tablet is set in a large boulder at the side of the main road leading through Millstone; a road not so familiar to motorists as famous for its historical associations. It was by this road that Washington's army marched from Princeton to Morristown after the battle of Princeton in January, 1777, bivouacking at Somerset Court House on the night of January 3. Throughout the period when that army, at Morristown, was planted on the flank of the British communications between New York and Philadelphia, Somerset Court House, or Hillsborough, as it was then called (the name has been transferred to another place several miles away) was more or less debatable ground, but usually within the American lines. In the spring of 1777 it was held by General Dickinson with the Jersey militia. In June of that year General Howe, leaving New Brunswick, occupied Millstone with his right wing for several days, hoping to draw Washington down out of the hills. In October, 1779, Colonel Simcoe and the Queen's Rangers swept through on their famous sixty-mile raid from Staten Island, released three royalists confined in the jail, and burned the court house with all its records except the road book and one book of mortgages. It was not rebuilt, but the county seat was moved to what is now Somerville.

The building was of brick or stone, and the materials were sold by the county after its destruction.

Apart from the matters of military interest connected with this building, it was the scene of a jail delivery by a mob in 1747; an execution by burning in 1752; the meeting place of the Somerset Committee of Correspondence in 1775; and a place designated for the sessions of the Supreme Court from 1777 to 1779.

The tablet was erected at the joint expense of our Society, the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of New Jersey, and the Somerset County Historical Society. The land whereon it stands was purchased by private subscription and the title vested in the Historical Society, as trustee for the three societies participating.

THE ELIZABETH TOWNE TABLET.

N pursuance of the policy of marking by appropriate tablets the chief historical sites of the State as occasion should arise, and because the fitness of things demanded, the Council of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey resolved to share in the celebration of the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Founding of Elizabeth Towne to be held in the year 1914.

Elizabeth Towne was settled in the year 1664 by a company from Long Island, though most of the founders originally had been identified with the New Haven Colony. This was the earliest permanent settlement of Englishmen within the present State of New Jersey.

Soon after the founding of the Town, Philip Carteret came from England as Governor to represent Sir George Carteret, to whom the Province had been sold by the Duke of York. Carteret identified himself with the infant settlement, and, in honor of the Lady Elizabeth, wife of the Proprietor Sir George Carteret, it received the name Elizabeth Towne.

Elizabeth Towne played a prominent and honorable part in the history of the Province. Here, for example, on May 26, 1668, was held the first General Assembly of the Province of East Jersey. Here also, in 1746, was established the great University of the State known to us as Princeton, but to earlier generations as the College of New Jersey. During the period of the Revolution, too, Elizabeth bore nobly her part of the privation and suffering of the time, and performed worthily her share of those great deeds through which independence was won.

The Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, in appreciation of the honorable rôle played by Elizabeth Towne in the Colonial history of our State, caused the Tablet illustrated herewith to be placed on the walls of old St. John's Church. The ceremony of presentation took place on October 27, 1914, during the Celebration held to commemorate the Two Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of the Founding of the City.

THE HENDRICK FISHER TABLET.

N invitation to join in the Celebration of the One Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of its founding was extended to our Society by the authorities of Rutgers College. The Council determined that the part of the Society in the Celebration should consist in the presentation, with appropriate exercises, of a tablet in memory of Hendrick Fisher, a person prominent in the Colonial History of the State, and active in the founding of the College.

Rutgers College had its origin in the need for an educational institution felt by the churches of the Reformed Dutch faith scattered through New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. After years of effort on the part of the Reverend Theodorus Jacobus Frelinghuysen and his son, the Reverend Theodorus Frelinghuysen, the movement was finally crowned with success under the leadership of the Reverend Jacob Rutsen Hardenburg and the layman, Hendrick Fisher. The Charter for Queen's College, the original name, was granted in the name of the King by Governor William Franklin under date of November 10, 1766, making Rutgers the eighth in order of foundation of the Colonial colleges.

It would be difficult to overestimate the importance of the work of Hendrick Fisher in bringing about the long-desired result. That charters were not lightly granted for colleges by the Governor and Council may be seen from the story of the difficulties encountered in securing the Charter for the College of New Jersey only a score of years earlier, even though the Presbyterians were much more numerous and wealthy than the members of the Dutch Church. Fisher's long service in the Assembly and his extensive acquaintance with those prominent in public life must have been of the greatest help in securing the coveted Charter.

Hendrick Fisher was born in the Palatine, and emigrated to America when only a boy. The family settled near Bound Brook, and became identified with the Dutch Church. In 1746 Fisher took for the first time his seat in the Assembly of the Province. He served continuously for thirty years; his long membership, his unquestioned integrity, and his considerable ability making him most influential in that body.

In 1765 he was appointed Paymaster of the New Jersey Regiment that had served in 1764. In that year also he was one of the three delegates of the Province to the Stamp Act Congress; and in 1775 he was President of the First Provincial Congress of New Jersey.

He it is to whose efforts the securing of the Royal Charter of Queen's College at the hands of Governor Franklin was largely due. Doubtless it was in recognition of his worth, his eminence, and his services in securing the Charter that he was made the President of the first Board of Trustees of the College.

To keep the name of this Colonial worthy in perpetual remembrance, and in recognition of his part in the founding of the College, the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey presented to the President and Trustees of Rutgers College the tablet erected within the walls of the beautiful Kirkpatrick Chapel.

Constitution
OF THE
Society of Colonial Wars
IN THE State of New Jersey.

CONSTITUTION.

PREAMBLE.

HEREAS, It is eminently proper that the prominent events of our Colonial history from the settlement of Jamestown, Va., May 13, 1607, to the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775, should be duly commemorated, and,

Whereas, Our forefathers, following the dictates of their consciences, and in order to secure civil and religious liberty, imperiled their lives in the founding and maintenance of the Colonies of America, and,

Whereas, The embodiment of their fundamental ideas is our Declaration of Independence, and the final result of their labors is the United States of America,

Now, therefore, we, their descendants, in order to perpetuate the memory of our ancestors, and to preserve for all times the names and deeds of those who, by their acts and counsel, assisted in the establishment and maintenance of the American Colonies, do hereby constitute ourselves the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, to the end that it may collect and preserve the manuscripts, records, and other documents relating to that period, that it may inspire its members and their descendants with the fraternal and patriotic spirit of their forefathers, and that it may perpetuate those national characteristics by which alone the unity and liberty of our country have been secured, and by which alone they can be maintained and preserved.

Out of these funds he shall pay such sums only as may be ordered by the Society or Council or as his office

The Surgeon shall be a practising Physician, or hold a diploma from some College of Medicine of established reputation.

ARTICLE XV.

ELECTION OF MEMBERS.

Members shall be elected by the Council, and the procedure shall be as follows:

A candidate must be proposed to the Council by one member of the Society, and seconded by another, to both of whom he must be personally known. Such proposal shall be in writing and signed by the proposer and seconder, and shall be endorsed on, or embodied in, formal application papers to be executed in duplicate on blanks to be furnished by the Secretary, showing in detail the services of the ancestor upon which the candidate bases his claim for admission to the Society, and the line of descent from such ancestor, and which papers when properly filled up and sworn to by the applicant or some one in his behalf, shall be sent, with such documents or other proof of qualification as the case may require, to the Secretary. The Secretary shall thereupon notify each member of the Council of the name and address of the applicant and the names of his proposer and seconder, and shall transmit the application papers to the Registrar for examination and report as to the applicant's ancestral qualifications; if such report be adverse the applicant shall be notified, and the application shall be considered as rejected unless the Council shall determine to make further investigation of the claim, on which its decision shall be final. In case of doubt as to the applicant's ancestral qualifications, the case may be referred by the Council to the Registrar General of the General Society for advice.

The members of the Council shall as far as practicable investigate the personal qualifications of the candidate, and any member of the Council having objection to his election or to immediate action on his name shall notify the Secretary in writing or orally of such objection, in which case no further proceedings shall be taken on the application until so directed by the Council at a meeting. If no objection be received by the Secretary from any member of the Council at least two weeks before the Council meeting at which the application should be considered in the absence of objection, and if the report of the Registrar on the ancestral qualification be favorable, then at least ten days before such Council meeting the Secretary shall mail to every other member of the Society a notice of the candidacy of such applicant, and any member having objection to the election of such proposed member may submit his objection in writing to the Secretary, who shall present the same with the application for the consideration and information of the Council at their first meeting after the receipt of such information; all such communications and any and all matters pertaining thereto, shall be treated as confidential. No applicant shall be voted on who is not personally known to at least one member of the Council. An applicant receiving two negative votes when his application is voted on, shall fail of election. Upon the election of a member his application papers shall be transmitted to and one of the said papers preserved by the Registrar, the other being forwarded to the Registrar General. No member shall, without consent of the Council, propose more than two candidates in any calendar year. If the applicant be a resident within the jurisdiction of another State Society, his application for membership in this Society shall not be considered without a waiver of jurisdiction in writing from the Council of the State Society within whose jurisdiction he resides. Payment of the initiation fees and dues, and subscription to the Constitution of the General Society of Colonial Wars and to the Constitution and by-Laws of this Society, shall be a prerequisite to membership.

Supplemental applications shall not be considered until the applicant has become a member of the Society, when supplemental lines of descent will be acted upon, subject to the above requirements as to eligibility.

ARTICLE XVI.

DECLARATION.

Every member shall declare upon honor that he will use his best efforts to promote the purposes of the Society of Colonial Wars, and will observe the "Constitution and by-laws" of the same, and of the General Society; and that he will support the Constitution of the United States of America, and of the State of New Jersey. Such declaration shall be in writing and subscribed by the member making it.

ARTICLE XVII.

PURPOSES.

At every General Court or meeting of the Council the purposes of the Society shall be considered, and the best measures to promote them adopted. No party political question of the day, or existing controversial religious subject, shall be discussed or considered at any Court of the Society or meeting of the Council.

ARTICLE XVIII.

The members of the Society, when practicable, shall hold a celebration commemorative of some martial event in Colonial history, and a banquet shall be held annually under the auspices of the Society.

ARTICLE XIX.

The seal of the Society shall be the Arms of the Province, surmounted by a crown, and described as follows:

Within a beaded amulet a title scroll 1607—Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, 1775, and in base the motto "Fortiter Pro Patria." Over all a shield bearing the Provincial Arms of New Jersey, and surmounted by a crown.

The Secretary shall be the custodian of the Seal.

ARTICLE XX.

INSIGNIA.

SEC. 1. The insignia officially adopted by the General Society shall be worn as a decoration only, and in the manner prescribed by the General Society, and only on occasions of dress and ceremony, and never as an ornament or article of jewelry, and any member offending against the provisions of this article shall be liable to expulsion by the Council, in which case his insignia shall be forfeited, and must be returned to the Treasurer, who is authorized to pay such expelled member the cost of same.

SEC. 2. Applications for insignia shall be made through the Treasurer of this Society, who shall keep a record of all insignias issued through him.

SEC. 3. The insignia of any member who may resign or be expelled shall be returned to the Treasurer, except in the case where a member in good standing in this Society resigns therefrom, but retains his membership in any one of the other State Societies in good standing with the General Society. No member shall receive more than one insignia, except to replace one lost, proof of which must be satisfactorily established, and the new one paid for.

SEC. 4. The undress insignia shall be a rosette or button of the size designed and quality authorized and adopted by the General Society.

ARTICLE XXI.

to represent this Society at all Courts of the General Society held during the term of office of such delegates and alternates. Any vacancy in the number of delegates by reason of death, resignation, or otherwise shall be filled by the alternates in the order in which their names appeared in the ballot at their election, as transcribed in the minutes, and the Council shall have power to fill any vacancy in the number of alternates thus or otherwise caused, to serve until the next Court at which delegates and alternates are elected according to the provisions of this Article.

They shall at no time be required to take any action or contract any debt for which they shall be liable. They may accept the resignation of any member of the Society.

They may submit to the Society annually a report of their proceedings during the past year. The Council shall have the power to drop from the roll the name of any member of the Society who shall be at least two years in arrears, and who shall fail to pay the same within sixty days after notice in writing, and, on being dropped, his membership shall cease; but he may be restored to membership at any time by the Council upon his written application and the payment of all arrears to the date of his restoration. The Council may suspend any officer for cause, which must be reported to the Society, and action taken on the same within thirty days by the Society.

ARTICLE XXV.

RESIGNATION.

The resignation of a member shall not become effective unless accepted by the Council.

ARTICLE XXVI.

DISQUALIFICATIONS.

Any person who may be enrolled as a member of this Society shall not be permitted to continue in membership when his proof of descent or eligibility shall be found to be defective.

The Council after thirty days' notice to such person to substantiate his claim, and upon his failure satisfactorily so to do, may require the Secretary to erase his name from the membership list.

The said person shall have a right to appeal to the Society at its next Court. If the said appeal be sustained by a two-thirds vote of the members present at such Court, the said person's name shall be restored to said membership list.

ARTICLE XXVII.

EXPULSION, SUSPENSION, OR DROPPING FROM THE ROLL.

Any member for conduct detrimental or antagonistic to the interest or purposes of the Society, or for other just cause, may be suspended or expelled from the Society. But no member shall be expelled or suspended unless written charges be preferred against such member to or by direction of the Council.

The Council shall give thirty days' notice in writing of such charges, and afford such member reasonable opportunity to appear with counsel and be heard and refute the same. The Council, after hearing such charges and refutation, may, by a two-thirds vote, recommend to the Society the suspension or expulsion of such member, and if the recommendation of the Council be adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members of the Society present at such Court, he shall be so suspended or expelled, and if expelled, the insignia of said member shall thereupon be returned to the Treasurer of the Society, and his rights therein shall be extinguished or suspended. In case of expulsion, the Treasurer shall refund to the said member the amount paid for the said insignia.

Whenever, for any reason satisfactory to the Society-at-large, the resignation of any member shall be requested by resolution adopted by unanimous vote of all other members present at a meeting of the Society held upon notice specifying that such resolution will be offered, and such member shall fail or refuse to resign within thirty days after notice of the passage of such resolution, the name of such member shall be dropped from the roll of the Society without the presentation of charges; and in such case the insignia shall be returned and paid for as in case of expulsion.

ARTICLE XXVIII.

SERVICE OF NOTICE.

It shall be the duty of every member to inform the Secretary by written communication of his place of residence and of any change thereof, and of his post-office address. Service of any notice under the Constitution or By-laws, on any member, may be made by depositing the same in the mail, postage prepaid, addressed to such member.

ARTICLE XXIX.

ALTERATIONS OR AMENDMENTS.

No alterations of, or amendment to, this Constitution shall be made unless notice specifying the proposed alteration or amendment shall have been given in writing, signed by the member proposing the same at a Court of the Society.

The Secretary shall send a copy of the proposed alteration or amendment to each member of the Society, and state the Court at which the same will be voted upon. No amendment or alteration of the said amendment shall be made unless adopted by a two-thirds vote of the members present at the Court voting upon the same.

THE INSIGNIA.

INSTRUCTIONS OF THE GENERAL SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS.

As supplemental to the directions of Article XVII of the Constitution of the General Society of Colonial Wars, the General Council, through its Committee, presents the following rules for the guidance of the members of the Society throughout the United States; to the end that uniformity and a proper use of the decorations may be observed and that the dignity of the Society may be maintained.

GEORGE NORBURY MACKENZIE.

HENRY ARTHUR GRIFFIN.

March, 1916.

ARTICLE XVII OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE GENERAL SOCIETY OF COLONIAL WARS.

INSIGNIA.

The insignia of the Society shall consist of a badge, pendant by a gold crown and ring, from a watered silk ribbon one inch and a half wide, of red, bordered with white and edged with red. The badge shall be surrounded by a laurel wreath in gold and shall consist of:

Obverse: A white enameled star of nine points bordered with red enamel, having between each star-point a shield displaying an emblem of one of the nine original colonies; and, within a blue enameled garter bearing the motto "Fortiter Pro Patria," an Indian's head in gold relievo.

Reverse: The star above described, but with gold edge, each shield between the points displaying a mullet, and in the center, within an annulet of blue bearing the title, "Society of Colonial Wars, 1607-1775," the figure of a colonial soldier in gold relievo. The reverse of the crown of each insignia shall bear an engraved number corresponding to that of the registered number of the member to whom such insignia has been issued.

The insignia shall be worn by the members on all occasions when they assemble as such, for any stated purpose or celebration, and may be worn on any occasion of ceremony. It shall be worn conspicuously on the left breast. Members who are or have been officers of a State Society, including Gentlemen of the Council, may wear the insignia with three jewels in the crown suspended from a regulation ribbon around the neck. Members who are or have been officers of the General Society may wear a sash (ribbon) of the Society's colors, three and one-half inches in width, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip, with the insignia pendant at the intersection of its ends over the hip. The insignia shall be worn only as above prescribed.

The undress insignia shall be a rosette or button of the size now in use or a miniature size of the same, of red watered silk with white thread edging, like the insignia ribbon. On ordinary occasions members may wear this rosette in the upper buttonhole of the left lapel of the coat, provided it be not used at the same time with any other insignia of the Society.

THE ROSETTE.

"The undress insignia shall be a rosette or button of the size now in use or a miniature size of the same, of red watered silk with white thread edging, like the insignia ribbon. On ordinary occasions members may wear this rosette in the upper buttonhole of the left lapel of the coat, provided it be not used at the same time with any other insignia of the Society."

The rosette is merely the informal decoration of the Society and should never be worn with full evening dress or with uniform. It should be worn in the left lapel of the coat but never in the overcoat. It is proper to wear the rosette with informal house or street dress; that is, with the sack suit of day time wear and the dinner coat of evening wear. When members belong to several orders or societies having rosettes, choice should be made of one rosette; more than one should never be worn at a given time. No rosette of any order or society should ever be worn at the same time with dress or formal insignia.

THE MINIATURE ROSETTE.

The status of the miniature rosette is identical with that of the rosette of regulation size and its use is governed by the same rules. The choice of which of the two rosettes to wear is, therefore, one purely of personal preference.

THE INSIGNIA AS WORN BY MEMBERS.

"The insignia shall be worn by the members on all occasions when they assemble as such, for any stated purpose or celebration, and may be worn on any occasion of ceremony. It shall be worn conspicuously on the left breast."

Propriety requires that the insignia be worn only with full afternoon dress (the black cutaway or the black frock coat), with full evening dress or with uniform. If the occasion is of such informality as to warrant the wearing of a sack coat or a dinner coat the insignia should not be worn but the rosette either of the standard or the miniature size (see under ROSETTE).

It is recommended that when the insignia of the Society are used together with the insignia of other orders or societies, the regulations of the United States Government for army officers be understood as applicable to civilians also, as follows:

"U. R. 1914 Sec. 58. g. HOW WORN. Badges and medals will be worn on the left breast of the coat in a horizontal line about four inches below the middle point of the top of the shoulder, those with ribbons being suspended from a bar of metal passed through the upper ends and tops of the ribbons. The badges and medals that have ribbons will be worn in but one line, overlapping if necessary."

The bars of metal of proper pattern for use as above prescribed may be procured on application to the Treasurer General. Attention is called to the fact that the purpose in using these bars is to attain exact alignment when several decorations are worn. In case the bar is not employed it is urged that the decorations be otherwise carefully aligned since disorder in this respect is incompatible with the dignity of the Society.

The number of insignia that may be worn simultaneously is largely a matter of taste, but it is urged with emphasis that under no conditions should more than one row of insignia be displayed. There can be no legal objection to the wearing of as many as one owns but the best practice limits the number to a modest one and, indeed, some are so averse to plurality of decoration as to limit the insignia worn to those of the society at whose meeting they are attendant or of the society of which they are representative.

It is to be remembered that the badge should invariably be suspended from its ribbon and not detached therefrom.

It is also to be remembered that the insignia should be worn conspicuously on the left breast of the coat, not on the lapel, not on the waistcoat, and not on the overcoat.

SUMMARY.

Members should wear
For informal use:

Daytime—the rosette or miniature rosette in left lapel.

Evening—the rosette or miniature rosette in left lapel of dinner coat.

For official and ceremonious occasions:

Daytime—the insignia worn on the left breast of black cutaway or black frock coat or uniform.

Evening—the insignia worn on the left breast with full evening dress or uniform.

THE INSIGNIA AS WORN BY STATE OFFICERS.

“Members who are or have been officers of a State Society, including Gentlemen of the Council, may wear the insignia” (badge) “with three jewels in the crown suspended from a regulation ribbon around the neck.”

It is to be noted that the badge suspended from the neck ribbon is to be worn on formal occasions only and with full evening dress or with full afternoon dress (black cutaway or black frock coat). The badge suspended from the neck ribbon is not to be worn with the dinner coat or other coat of informal pattern. In the case of evening dress the badge should be drawn up to within an inch of the tie. With full afternoon dress a black bow tie should be worn and the badge suspended about one inch below it. The neck ribbon as supplied by the Treasurer General is of a length sufficient for those having large neck measurement. In the case of those whose necks are smaller the ribbon should be shortened at the back until the badge is pendant at the prescribed distance from the tie. The ribbon is worn superimposed upon the tie about the neck.

In order to conform with precedent the neck ribbon hereafter will not be issued in the form hitherto in use; namely, folded flat and furnished with the gold suspending bar, but compressed by a ring at the point from which the badge is pendant. For the sake of dignity and uniformity it is urgently requested that all who are entitled to wear this form of decoration and who possess it without the standard finish as described, shall arrange with the Treasurer General for alteration to the official form, no other arrangement of the decoration being permissible.

Those entitled to wear the badge suspended by the ribbon around the neck are recommended, for the dignity of the Society, so to wear it; the practice is not obligatory, however, and a State officer, past or present, if he prefer, may wear the decoration of ordinary membership; that is, the badge suspended by the short ribbon on the left breast. It is to be remembered, however, that if he elect to wear the decoration of ordinary membership he is not entitled, at the same time, to wear the neck ribbon with the badge suspended therefrom. In other words, the simultaneous use of more than one method of wearing the insignia of the Society is prohibited. (See under GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.)

SUMMARY.

State officers past and present should wear
For informal use:

Daytime—rosette or miniature rosette in left
lapel.

Evening—rosette or miniature rosette in left lapel of dinner coat.

For official and ceremonious occasions:

Daytime—the insignia worn at the neck with black cutaway or black frock coat.

Evening—the insignia worn at the neck with full evening dress.

THE INSIGNIA AS WORN BY GENERAL OFFICERS.

“Members who are or have been officers of the General Society may wear a sash (ribbon) of the Society's colors three and one-half inches in width, extending from the right shoulder to the left hip, with the insignia pendant at the intersection of the ends over the hip.”

The broad ribbon it is to be noted is for use on formal occasions only, with full evening dress or with full afternoon dress (black cutaway coat or black frock coat). The broad ribbon is not to be worn with the ordinary dinner coat or with other coat of informal pattern.

The broad ribbon as supplied by the Treasurer General is of a length sufficient to suit those of considerable height. In the case of men not so tall the ribbon should be shortened at the shoulder to such an extent that the ends of the ribbon which suspend the badge may, in all cases, lie upon the left hip, in the case of full evening dress, in the angle formed by the waist and the tail of the coat. In order to conform with precedent the ends of the broad ribbon suspending the badge are now finished in a bow of standard pattern, with a hook or catch whereon the badge is to be fastened, and hereafter all broad ribbons will be issued thus finished. For the sake of precedent and uniformity it is urgently requested that all who are entitled to wear this form of decoration and who possess it without the standard finish as described shall arrange with the Treasurer General for alteration to the official form, no other arrangement of the decoration being permissible.

With evening dress the broad ribbon should lie beneath the waistcoat and cross the shirt front diagonally and, furthermore, it should be so fastened as to insure smoothness, by this contributing to the dignity and effectiveness of the decoration. With full afternoon dress the broad ribbon is worn under the waistcoat, showing only at the neck opening and at the hip. The appearance of the broad ribbon at the neck opening may be effected, if necessary, by fastening the ribbon smoothly to the clothing, the end sought being a linear display of color, not exceeding an inch in width, along the right side of the neck opening of the waistcoat, below the collar and worn in conjunction with a black bow tie.

Those entitled to wear the broad ribbon with the badge suspended therefrom are recommended for the dignity of the Society so to wear it but the practice is not obligatory and a general officer past or present, if he prefer, may wear the decoration of ordinary membership, that is, the badge suspended by the short ribbon on the left breast, or, if he is or has been an officer of a State society, may wear the badge suspended from the neck ribbon as above provided. It is to be remembered, however, that if he elect to wear the decoration of ordinary membership or the decoration of State office he is not at liberty, at the same time, to wear the broad ribbon of General office. In other words the simultaneous use of more than one form of wearing the insignia of the Society is prohibited. (See under GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.)

SUMMARY.

General officers, past and present, should wear
For informal use:

Daytime—rosette or miniature rosette in left
lapel.

Evening—rosette or miniature rosette in left lapel of dinner coat.

For official and ceremonious occasions:

Daytime—the broad ribbon suspending the badge, with black cutaway coat or black frock coat.

Evening—the broad ribbon suspending the badge, with full evening dress.

THE MINIATURE INSIGNIA.

The miniature is not the official decoration of the Society but its use is sanctioned and the Treasurer General is prepared to furnish it on order of a State Secretary or a State Treasurer but only to members who shall already be in possession of the official insignia.

The use of the miniature decoration is confined to occasions of semi-formality. It may then be worn, but only on the left lapel of full afternoon or evening dress, by itself or in company with the miniature insignia of other Societies or orders, but never in conjunction with insignia of regulation size or with a rosette.

The miniature insignia may not be worn on official or ceremonious occasions.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS.

For detailed information as to the use of the insignia with military uniform, members are referred to the Military Regulations. These will cover the practice of using a section of ribbon without the badge.

Of ministerial use of the insignia it may be said, in general, that the rules above set forth should apply (so far as they are adaptable) as in the case of informal dress, formal dress, and uniform; unless contrary to ecclesiastical rule.

It is respectfully suggested to members that the Treasurer General can always supply ribbons to replace those that have outlived their freshness and that the wearing of soiled or faded ribbons is to be deprecated. New rosettes, both of regulation and of miniature size, may be obtained of State Secretaries or State Treasurers.

For the convenience of those who may have occasion to use the badge in more than one of its three forms of suspension, all broad ribbons hereafter issued, all neck ribbons, and all members ribbons will be furnished with a hook or catch, thus facilitating the shifting of the badge from one to another. It is to be noted, however, that the hook or catch should remain with its ribbon and the badge alone be shifted.

Finally, it should be remembered that the insignia of the Society are never to be worn as articles of jewelry and that only members of the Society are at liberty to wear them.

THE COST OF INSIGNIA.

Insignia in gold (the badge with members ribbon).....Twenty-two dollars.

Insignia in silver gilt (the badge with members ribbon) Twelve dollars.

When either of the above is jeweled an additional charge of ..... Three dollars.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE.

Members may secure the members ribbon, the insignia in gold, the insignia in silver gilt, or the miniature insignia from the Treasurer General through the Secretaries or the Treasurers of their State Societies.

The jewels which may be added to the badge when used by officers of State Societies are a ruby, a diamond, and a sapphire set in the order named (from right to left of the wearer). Three dollars is charged for insertion of the jewels in the ordinary badge of membership.

Officers of State Societies may secure the neck ribbon from the Treasurer General through the Secretaries or the Treasurers of their State Societies.

Officers of the General Society may secure the broad ribbon from the Treasurer General through the Secretary General.

Miniature insignia are issued only to members who have the official insignia of regulation size in gold or silver gilt.

No article of decoration above listed can be obtained from the jewelers except upon written order signed by the Treasurer General.

Under no circumstances can orders from individual members be filled by the Treasurer General. In all cases applications must be made to the Secretary or the Treasurer of the member's State Society (to the Secretary General in the case of General Officers) who will make requisition upon the Treasurer General for the article desired.

State Secretaries and State Treasurers will enclose cheques payable to the order of the Treasurer General when ordering any of the Society's decorations, and when insignia are ordered the applicant's State enrollment number must be given, accompanied by his signed pledge.

State Secretaries and State Treasurers may obtain blank pledges in quantity and of the form prescribed on application to the Treasurer General.

"The General Council respectfully points out that the prestige and influence of the Society much depends upon the enthusiastic loyalty of the members everywhere to those great principles which look for origin to American Colonial history. In the multiplication of patriotic societies, representing other periods and having different aims from those for which we stand, it is deemed peculiarly important that every member should possess and should use on all suitable occasions the emblems and insignia of this Society. It is hoped that members who may not have procured insignia already will do so. It is desirable that care be exercised and effort made by all members to see to it, that in whatever makes for public recognition this Society shall stand second to none."

Extract from Circular of Information on the Insignia: issued by the late Edward Shippen, Treasurer General 1895-1904.

A List OF
Civil Officers in New Jersey
PRIOR TO
April 19, 1775.

CIVIL OFFICERS IN NEW JERSEY PRIOR TO APRIL 19, 1775.

T the request of the Council of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, the Rev. Professor Charles W. Shields, D.D., LL.D., Chaplain of the Society, assisted by Mr. V. L. Collins, Assistant Librarian of Princeton University, prepared a list of the Civil Officers in New Jersey from whom descent is a qualification for membership in the Society. A like list, with references to the authorities, was prepared by Emory McClintock, LL.D., Governor of the Society. Comparison has resulted in the correction of errors and omissions. Many names are now irrecoverable, as the legislative minutes prior to 1703 (for the Council of East New Jersey prior to 1682) have not been preserved.

Officers who are not known to have even temporarily resided in New Jersey are omitted, as not having held office "in" the Colony. As the Constitution of the Society mentions the office of "Lord Proprietor," those proprietors are omitted who were not of the governing body; that is, for West New Jersey, all except William Penn and Gawen Lawrie are omitted, and for East New Jersey, those only are included who joined in the Surrender, or who are known to have become qualified for a share in the government by the ownership of at least one ninety-sixth part of the province.

The date given for each office is that of the first year in which the office appears to have been held, so far as has been observed from the records now extant. It is possible that in a few cases two persons of the same name may erroneously appear as one person in this list, who have held the same office within a few years of each other. Variations of spelling must be allowed for by the reader, and also aliases, such as Vauquellin and Laprairie, Dalboe and Mattson, Michielsen and Vreeland, Van Winkel and Jacobs.

Further study of the subject has revealed many errors in the list above described and a number of omissions are probable. In the list which follows all recognized errors have been corrected, but further research and work upon the list are much to be desired and happily are now being done. It is with much satisfaction that announcement is made of the early publication by the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey of a volume which will deal exhaustively and authoritatively with the subject. The manuscript of this work has been provided by the New Jersey Historical Society and the book will be issued in commemoration of the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the settlement of Newark.

<sup>1</sup> The names of the members of the Assembly of 1697 are known chiefly from the signatures to a document preserved in the Public Records Office in London. This document is printed in Volume II of the New Jersey Archives (pp. 147-148); reference to the original shows that in transcribing the signatures preparatory to printing, several palpable inaccuracies occurred, as here indicated: Daniel Wills appears as Daniel Mills, Henry Ballinger as Henry Callinger, Richard Darkin as Richard Daukin or Davkin, Hananiah Gant or Gaunt as Hananiah Gam, William Bates as William Page, Archibald Mickle as Archibald Michell, and Freedom Lippincott as Fred: Jam. Lippincott.

THE REVEREND WILLIAM WHITE HANCE.

William White Hance, oldest son of George Corlies and Sarah White Hance, was born August 28, 1852.

Graduating from St. Stephens College, Annandale, N. Y., with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1874, he entered the School of Mines, Columbia University, the same year. Although he completed his four-year course, he did not take his degree. In 1876, during the summer, he worked as a civil engineer on the Hayden Exposition for the U. S. Geological Survey in the West.

From the fall of 1877 to the spring of 1879, he was an engineer in the construction work on Riverside Drive and on the building of the Sixth Avenue Elevated Railway from 72nd Street to 125th Street, New York. In the spring of 1879, he entered the firm of George C. Hance & Co., of 52 Broadway, and was the active member of the firm upon the New York Stock Exchange.

In 1888 he entered the General Theological Seminary, from which he graduated in 1892. He was ordained in his home church at Woodbridge, New Jersey, where his body lies interred in the Hance plot.

After spending a few years in parochial work in North Carolina and Wyoming, he was called to the church in Palenville, New York, and for a number of years did active work as the priest of the parish. His death occurred in this village on November 14, 1911.

During the latter years of his life, owing to increasing physical infirmities, he devoted his time and energies, with Dr. John E. Stilwell of New York City, to careful genealogical research.

The third volume of Dr. Stilwell's Genealogical Works is dedicated to his memory. His sudden death prevented him from completing the record of his mother's ancestors, who were directly descended from the Whites, the Kennedys, and the Irwins of Ireland. A few years before his death he was made a member of the Holland Society.

PIERREPONT EDWARDS.

Pierrepont Edwards, sixth in descent from the Reverend Timothy Edwards, was born on December 30, 1856. After attending Selleck's School, at Norwalk, Connecticut, he entered Harvard with the Class of 1880. Remaining at Harvard for only a part of the course, Mr. Edwards for a time pursued the study of medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, after which he spent some time in European travel. Mr. Edwards was unmarried. He died on January 22, 1912.

Although Mr. Edwards' modest and retiring quality was such as to preclude a large circle of acquaintances, by those to whom he gave his regard he was esteemed and beloved in no ordinary degree. By his fellow members of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, he will always be held in affectionate memory.

LEANDER NEWTON LOVELL.

Leander Newton Lovell was born in Fall River, Massachusetts, on November 15, 1835, and died in Plainfield, New Jersey, on February 19, 1912. At the time of his death, he was President of the Borden Mining Company and of the Northern Insurance Company of New York. For many years he was a director in the Old Colony Steamboat Company, and his firm, Borden & Lovell, were general passenger agents in New York City for over forty years for the Fall River Line of Steamboats.

Mr. Lovell was a member of the Board of Education of Plainfield for nineteen years and its President nearly four years. He held a life membership in the New York Y. M. C. A., and was an elder in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church of Plainfield for over twenty-eight years.

At the time of his death he had been Governor of the Society of Mayflower Descendants for five years. Besides being a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, he was a member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution.

By the death of Mr. Lovell our Society loses a greatly respected and much valued member.

SENATOR FRANK O. BRIGGS.

Senator Briggs was born at Concord, New Hampshire, August 12, 1851. He was the son of Major James F. Briggs, who served in the Civil War, and who represented the State of New Hampshire three terms in the National House of Representatives.

Senator Briggs was a student at Phillips Exeter Academy, from which institution he entered West Point, graduating in 1872, sixth in his class. He was commissioned Second Lieutenant, and served until 1877, in the Second United States Infantry. About this time he moved to Trenton, New Jersey, where he entered the firm of John A. Roebling Sons; later he became the Assistant Treasurer of that company.

In 1899 he was elected Mayor of Trenton by the Republican Party. He was appointed a member of the State Board of Education, but later resigned to accept the post of State Treasurer. In 1904 he was Chairman of the Republican State Committee, and in 1907 he was elected United States Senator from New Jersey and served a full term of six years.

Senator Briggs was also President of the Inter-State Fair Association. He was prominent in the Masonic fraternity, and was a member of the Bibliophile Society and of many clubs both in New York and Washington, D. C.

His wife was the daughter of the late Thomas Allison. He is survived by a son. He died May 8, 1913.

STEPHEN MUNN SMITH.

Stephen Munn Smith was born in the year 1867, and died in the New York Hospital, May 11, 1913, after an illness of about five months. He was a bachelor and during the last twelve years of his life made his home with his sister and brother-in-law in Orange, New Jersey. His business career lasted about twenty-seven years. He was in the employ of the Mutual Life Insurance Company in their Treasury Department, and for five years preceding his death held the position of Assistant Treasurer in that Company.

His life was one of quiet devotion to family and friends. Striking incidents and exciting experiences were lacking in his career. His kind spirit and charitable nature led him to spend his substance freely on others. To relatives who needed help and to friends in financial distress he was liberal to a fault. He never spoke evil of others, nor harbored unkind thoughts.

In his business and social life, Mr. Smith had a host of friends and no enemies. During his last illness constant manifestations of friendship for him were shown not only by those in high station, but by his barber, newsboy, and bootblack, who frequently called at the hospital to inquire about him and express their hope for his recovery. He had the confidence, respect and love of all who came in contact with him. He was a reader of good books and devoted to music. His life presents to our minds a picture of a truly useful man, and one who was loved by the community in which he lived.

CHARLES GREENE ROCKWOOD.

Charles Greene Rockwood, Jr., M.A., Ph.D., was born in New York City, on January 11, 1843, and was graduated from Yale University in 1864 with the degree A.B. In 1866 received the degree of Ph.D. from the same University. The honorary degree of M.A. was conferred on him by Bowdoin College in 1869 and again by Princeton University in 1896.

Professor Rockwood occupied the chair of Mathematics and Natural History at Bowdoin College for fourteen years. After that, he succeeded to the Professorship of Mathematics and Astronomy in Rutgers College. In 1877 he took the chair of Mathematics at Princeton University and held it continuously until 1905, when he became Professor Emeritus.

He was a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, a member of the American Meteorological Society, National Geographic Society, American Mathematical Society, New Jersey Historical Society, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, American Historical Association, Saint Nicholas Society of New York, American Social Science Association, Washington Association of New Jersey, Eighth International Geographic Congress, Società Sismologica Italiana, British Association for the Advancement of Science, Circolo Matematico di Palermo, Seismological Society of America, Nassau Club of Princeton, National Arts Club, University and Yale Clubs of New York City and Princeton Clubs of New York and Philadelphia.

He published many reports and papers of a scientific character relating to vulcanological, seismological, and geological investigations and observations.

Professor Rockwood was quiet and gentle, simple and unostentatious, conscientious, and diligent in every good work. He was for many years a member and ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, New Jersey.

He was married June 13, 1867, to Miss Hettie Hosford Smith. They had one daughter, Katherine Chauncey Rockwood.

Professor Rockwood died on July 2, 1913, at Caldwell, New Jersey, after an illness of about three years. The interment was in Orange, New Jersey.

GENERAL EDWARD BURD GRUBB.

General E. Burd Grubb was born in Burlington, New Jersey, November 13, 1841. His father was Edward Burd Grubb and his great-grandfather was Colonel Peter Grubb, who commanded the second regiment of Pennsylvania Associators in Washington's army during the Revolution. Colonel Peter Grubb married Mary Shippen, daughter of Colonel James Burd, one of Washington's Staff.

General Grubb was educated in the grammar schools of Burlington and matriculated in Burlington College, from which institution he graduated with first honors in 1860. In 1861, at the call of President Lincoln, he entered the service of the Union as Second Lieutenant of Company C, Third Regiment of New Jersey. He participated in many battles, and his distinguished services won for him promotion after promotion, until finally in March, 1865, he was breveted Brigadier-General of Volunteers. After the war ended he took much interest in military affairs. He was made Colonel of the Sixth Regiment, New Jersey National Guard, and later Captain of the First City Troop of Philadelphia.

General Grubb resided in Burlington until about 1873. He was President of the Common Council for two years and trustee of St. Mary's Hall and of Burlington College. Upon the death of his father he assumed control of large iron interests in Dauphin, Lebanon, and Lancaster Counties.

In 1899, General Grubb was the Republican nominee for Governor of the State of New Jersey, but was defeated. He was appointed Minister to Spain, but soon after his appointment the iron firm of Kaufman and Company, of which he was a member, failed and the General was almost impoverished. With remarkable fortitude and courage, he set out to straighten his affairs, and for a time lived on the barest necessities. Three years after this total failure, General Grubb was again counted a wealthy man. He had succeeded in acquiring a fortune at a time in life when most men are willing to give up work.

General Grubb at the time of his decease was Superintendent of the New Jersey Home for Disabled Soldiers, at Kearney, New Jersey.

He was twice married. His first wife was a Miss Van Rensselaer of Albany, who died, leaving one daughter. Some years later he married Miss Viola Sopwith of Scotland.

General Grubb was a charter member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey—a member of the Council 1900-1902 inclusive, and governor 1894 to 1899 inclusive. He died July 7, 1913, in Newark, N. J.

JUDGE GARRET DORSET WALL VROOM.

Judge Vroom was born at Trenton, New Jersey, December 17, 1843. The son of Governor Peter D. Vroom, and grandson of Garret D. Wall, he united in his own name those of two noted New Jersey families. He was graduated from Rutgers College in 1862, and continued his study of law in his father's office, becoming an Attorney at Law in 1865 and Counsellor in 1868. He was City Solicitor of Trenton from 1866 to 1870, and from 1873 to 1876. He served as Prosecutor of the Pleas of Mercer County from 1870 to 1873. Upon the death of his father in 1873, he was appointed reporter of the Supreme Court, and held that office continuously until his death.

Judge Vroom compiled fifty of the fifty-six volumes of Vroom's Reports, the first six having been written by his father. In addition to this he was joint compiler, with the late John H. Stewart, of the 1886 supplement to the Revision, and, with Judge William M. Lanning, of the General Statutes of 1895. In 1900 he declined a seat on the Bench of the Supreme Court. In 1901 he was appointed a Judge of the Court of Errors and Appeals and was reappointed in 1907. In later business life he was perhaps best known as President of the Trenton Savings Fund Society. He was a trustee of Rutgers College and received the honorary degree of LL.D. from that institution.

Judge Vroom was an authority on New Jersey history and took great interest in Revolutionary and pre-Revolutionary matters. He served as President of the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of New Jersey from 1904 to 1909 and was one of its charter members. For some time also he held the position of Vice-President of the General Society.

In private life he was essentially a lover of books, history, and flowers. His library was one of the finest in the State, including a notable collection of old documents, manuscripts, and autographs; and the rose garden at the back of his house was celebrated for beauty and good taste.

He was greatly beloved and highly respected. His charities were liberal, his friendships warm and real, his counsel wise and valued.

He died March 4, 1914.

JOHN EDWARD MARSH.

John Edward Marsh, son of Rolph and Frances Lawrence Marsh, died in New York City on March 22, 1914.

His ancestor, Samuel Marsh, came from Essex County, England, to join his brother at New Haven, Conn., in 1645. He later moved to Rahway, New Jersey, and established his home on the Rahway River. From that time on Mr. Marsh's ancestors always made their home at Rahway.

Mr. Marsh was born at Rahway August 17, 1840. He studied at Burlington College at Burlington, N. J., under Bishop Doane, the elder, and entered the class of 1861 at Yale College. He left college at the end of his freshman year and continued his studies at several German Universities, taking the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Jena in 1868. The same year he returned to this country and married Carolyn A. Capron, a granddaughter of Dr. Seth Capron, an officer on the staff of George Washington. From 1868 to 1876 he lived at Munich and Dresden, Germany, engaged in scientific work. He was associated there with Professor Liebig, the chemist.

From 1876 to the time of his death he made his home at Rahway. He devoted his time to the care of his father's estate and to genealogical research, compiling extensive records, which he bequeathed to the New Jersey Historical Society. The improvement in the care of family monuments in many of the old cemeteries in New Jersey was largely due to his initiative, he, in many cases, paying the first cost of restoring the old stones.

HORACE PORTER.

Mr. Horace Porter, who died at Lakewood, on March 6, 1915, had been a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, since November, 1903. He was born April 11, 1851, at Waterford, Maine. His father was Oliver Porter, a merchant of over fifty years' standing, and his mother was Mary Jane Seal. Both were of Colonial stock, the records showing Mr. Porter's descent, through his father's side, from the Shaw, Byram, Nash, Emery, Huntington, and Moulton families, and through his mother's side from the Pepperell, Jackson, Porterfield, Slemons, and Frost families.

Mr. Porter spent his early days in the town of Waterford, and attended the Bridgeton Academy at Bridgeton, Maine. In 1880 he took up his life's work at Lakewood, New Jersey, and was an early factor in the success of that resort. Mr. Porter was also instrumental in building and maintaining the Waumbeck at Jefferson, New Hampshire.

Mr. Porter was not a robust man, and as a result of his faithfulness and energetic attention to his business and also, in a measure, as the result of an European trip in 1896, he gradually began to feel the effects of his labors. About eighteen years ago he gave up his hotel interests and devoted himself to country life. He spent several years in northern New England and later moved nearer New Jersey and New York. In 1910 he located at Ridgefield, Connecticut, where he largely devoted his talents, as he had done elsewhere, since his retirement, to the raising of blooded poultry. In September, 1914, Mr. Porter decided to spend the winter months nearer the South, and so took up a temporary residence at Lakewood, where he died.

Mr. Porter was of keen intellect, a gentleman by nature. He easily made and retained friends, and by his gentleness of manner, diplomacy, and his interest in all with whom he came in contact, aided by a retentive memory and a disposition to see the sunny side of everything, he lived a life that was well worth while.

His interest in the Society of Colonial Wars was genuine and keen, and it was his regret that he was unable to be more active in its affairs.

Mr. Porter's remains are buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Lakewood, New Jersey, a beautiful spot overlooking the attractive country and the scenes of his happiest days.

DANIEL REQUA FOSTER, D.D.

The Reverend Daniel Requa Foster, D.D., ninth in descent from Major John Freeman, was elected to membership in the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey on January 21, 1911. He died on October 25, 1915. From his obituary notice published by the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of New Jersey we quote the following:

"Mr. Foster's grandparents on both sides were Godly people with whom he was in his childhood intimately associated. He was born and reared in a religious atmosphere. His parents and aunts were devoted Christian people, but without the sternness of their Pilgrim forbears. They were endowed with a keen sense of humor and among their own kindred were most affectionate, and kind and courteous to every one, exceedingly hospitable, and fond of society. With such a heredity and environment, it would only be natural that Mr. Foster should have possessed those qualities which made him so helpful to others in his pastoral work. He loved people and sympathized with them in their joys and sorrows."

HENRY HERTEL TRUMAN.

Henry Hertel Truman, former Mayor of Orange, N. J., died Thursday morning, March 30, 1916, at his home, 56 Highland Avenue. Mr. Truman was born in Greenwich, Connecticut, in 1847. He was educated in the public and private schools there, and later attended the Brooklyn Polytechnic School. He moved to Orange in 1885 and was Mayor from 1890 to 1892.

Mr. Truman was a member of the New York Stock Exchange and of the New York Produce Exchange; at one time he was a member of the firm of the late Governor Flower. He was a life member of the Orange Y. M. C. A., and a generous contributor to many charities. He was a founder of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in South Orange, and was at one time Senior Warden.

Mr. Truman was greatly interested in genealogy and was a member of many societies, among them being the Society of Colonial Wars, the Mayflower Descendants, the Society of the War of 1812, the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America, the Descendants of Colonial Governors, the Society of American Wars, the Sons of the American Revolution, the New England Society of Orange, the New York Academy of Political and Social Science, and the New Jersey Historical Society.

Mr. Truman married, November 18, 1874, Miss Julie M. Judson, and is survived by two children, Mrs. Percy M. Bradshaw of Orange, N. J., and Mrs. Noel T. Wellman of Cleveland, Ohio, and by one grandson, Robert Truman Bradshaw.

The funeral services were held in St. Andrew's Church, South Orange, and the interment was in Rosedale Cemetery, Orange.

Mr. Truman was greatly beloved by his many friends, and his generous hospitality and happy, cordial greeting made glad many hearts. His fairness no one ever dreamed of questioning and his judgment of men and things was far-reaching and surprisingly correct.

EMORY McCLINTOCK.

Emory McClintock was born on September 19, 1840, at Carlisle, Pennsylvania. His father, the Reverend John McClintock, for a time was Professor of Mathematics, Greek, and Latin in Dickinson College, and in Civil War time was in charge of the American Chapel in Paris, in which position he was active in his support of the Federal cause.

After studying at Dickinson College, which he entered at the age of fourteen, Mr. McClintock spent about a year at Yale, and in 1857 entered Columbia College, graduating with the Class of 1859. Following his graduation, he was Instructor in Mathematics in Columbia during the years 1859 and 1860. After studying chemistry in Paris and Göttingen, Mr. McClintock returned to this country in 1862 and planned to join the Army of the United States, in which he had been offered a commission as Second Lieutenant of Topographical Engineers. His military service, however, was rendered impossible because of illness. Between the years 1862 and 1866, Mr. McClintock was Vice-Consul of the United States at Bradford, England. It was in 1868 when he was appointed actuary of the Asbury Life Insurance Company of New York that his life work may be said to have begun, a work in which he rose to great eminence. From 1871 to 1889 he was actuary of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Milwaukee, and in the latter year joined the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York in the same capacity, his actuarial status at this time having become one of the most prominent in the country. In 1906 to his actuarial duties in the Company there was added the responsibility of the Vice-Presidency. Impaired health, however, soon necessitated a limitation of his activities, and in 1911 Mr. McClintock was compelled to abandon them for the greater part.

Mr. McClintock is generally regarded as having been one of the most eminent of American mathematicians, and among its actuaries probably the greatest. The interest in genealogical matters which he had was great, and of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey he was an enthusiastic member. From 1900 to 1904 he was its Governor. Mr. McClintock died at Bay Head, New Jersey, on July 10, 1916.

GENERAL WILBUR FISK SADLER, JR.

General Wilbur Fisk Sadler, Jr., was born at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, on November 4, 1871. Having attended school at Carlisle and at Lawrenceville, he studied at Dickinson College, graduating with the Class of 1890. After a short connection with the lumber business in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, General Sadler engaged in street railway construction in Pennsylvania, continuing the same sort of work after his establishing residence in Trenton in 1898. Here other interests were taken up as well, and he became a director of the Broad Street National Bank and later its President. In 1907 he was elected President of the Chamber of Commerce of Trenton.

In 1908 General Sadler was made a member of the staff of Governor John Franklin Fort and was appointed Adjutant General on April 15, 1909. As Adjutant General his work was of conspicuous excellence, and to his credit is the reorganization of the National Guard and the very great increase in its efficiency. In the mobilization and preparation of troops for service on the Mexican border, General Sadler was unsparing of himself and untiring, exhibiting executive quality of the highest order and reflecting the greatest credit both on himself and on his State.

In the recovery of marsh lands in the rear of the State House at Trenton and the creation of Mahlon Stacy Park, General Sadler had large part, and to his energy is chiefly due the restoration of the Old Barracks by the State. The work on the Old Barracks was very absorbing to General Sadler, and to it he devoted endless interest, his researches covering the whole field of military buildings in the Colonies, and leading even to the records of the English War Office. He was active, too, in the restoration of the Douglass House and the Old Masonic Temple.

General Sadler was a member of a number of clubs, of the Society of Sons of the Revolution in the State of New Jersey, and of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey, of which he was at one time Treasurer. He died at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, on November 10, 1916. In announcing the death of General Sadler to the New Jersey National Guard Governor Fielder issued the following order:

The Governor and Commander-in-Chief announces with deep regret the death of Brigadier General Wilbur F. Sadler, Jr., the Adjutant General of New Jersey, at the home of his brother, Lewis T. Sadler, in Carlisle, Pennsylvania, on Friday, November 10, 1916.

General Sadler entered the military service of New Jersey as Major, Pay Department, July 9, 1908, and was detailed upon the Staff of Governor John Franklin Fort. He was commissioned the Adjutant General, with the rank of Brigadier General, April 15, 1909.

General Sadler brought to the duties of the Adjutant General's Department unusual executive and administrative ability. By tireless attention he familiarized himself with the most minute details of the military organization of the State. He cultivated the acquaintance of the officers connected with the War Department and regular army for the purpose of obtaining from them information and their experience upon military matters. He endeavored in every way to advance the true interests of the National Guard and increase and develop the efficiency of the service. The result of General Sadler's efforts was to raise the National Guard of New Jersey to a standard of efficiency which received the deserved commendation of military authorities.

The National Flag will be displayed at half staff on the State Capitol and all State armories until sunset, November 13, 1916.

HAMILTON WRIGHT MABIE.

Hamilton Wright Mabie, L.H.D., LL.D., of Summit, New Jersey, essayist, critic, and orator, Associate Editor of The Outlook, author of "My Study Fire," "Backgrounds of Literature," "William Shakespeare. Poet, Dramatist and Man," and other books, became a member of the Society of Colonial Wars in the State of New Jersey in 1906, and served as its Lieutenant Governor from 1909 to 1911. He died at his home on Sunday, December 31, 1916, at the age of seventy.

Mr. Mabie was descended on the paternal side from an officer named Mabile, who was on the staff of Admiral Coligny, and escaped to America through Holland after the massacre of St. Bartholomew. On the maternal side he was of Scotch descent. He graduated from Williams College in 1867 and was subsequently admitted to the Bar. His tastes, however, being literary, he practiced law but a short time, and for the thirty-seven years previous to his death was an editor and writer of belles-lettres, winning a high and honorable place in American literature. No unworthy thought or undignified expression ever came from his pen. His ideals were the highest, his standards pure, and his point of view sane, kindly, and sympathetic. "This human sympathy," writes Dr. Lyman Abbott of him, "also gave to his writings on religious themes a unique attractiveness. As it was the life, not the science, of nature which interested him, so it was the life and not the science of the soul of man. Not the anatomy of religion but its pulsating, inspiring life appealed to him. Nature interested him but slightly as a machine, greatly as a book. What concerned him was not the relations of natural phenomena to each other, nor greatly their relations to the physical welfare of man; what fascinated him was their relation to the intellectual and spiritual life of man."

Mr. Mabie received many academic honors. He was a lecturer on literary themes, of wide experience and popularity, and he was an after-dinner speaker of rare wit, eloquence, and charm. His personal charm and his sincere interest in other people won him many friends, and he was welcome in many and varied social circles.
